Public Health Laboratory Internship Opportunities

Launch Your Story!

The Association of Public Health Laboratories (APHL) and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) are seeking students who are interested in exploring a career in the laboratory sciences.

APHL-CDC Public Health Laboratory Internship Initiative

APHL interns will join a public health laboratory team to make an impact on protecting the health of our communities. Interns assist scientists working on meaningful projects while building skills such as general lab practices (e.g., pipetting, calibrations, etc.), data analysis, report management, problem solving, teamwork, effective communication and more.

- Eligible Candidates: Current student enrolled at an accredited institution and in pursuit of a relevant certificate, associate's, bachelor's, master's or doctorate* degree
- Start and End Dates: Flexible
- Hours and Program Length: Flexible hours with an average of 20 hours a week, length varies

Interns have the opportunity to network with laboratory professionals and be supervised by a mentor to help them during their internship.

*Genomic Data Specialists Internship Only

Application Requirements

- Completed application form
- Resume
- Reference (either academic or professional)
- College transcripts

Internship Benefits

- Network with public health laboratory professionals
- Professional mentor
- Competitive stipend
- Build transferable skills

Learn More By Visiting:
www.aphl.org/Career-Pathways

About APHL

APHL works to strengthen laboratory systems serving the public's health in the U.S. and globally. APHL's member laboratories protect the public's health by monitoring and detecting infectious and foodborne diseases, environmental contaminants, terrorist agents, genetic disorders in newborns and other diverse health threats.

What To Expect After Applying

APHL staff will contact selected candidates to discuss the location of available host laboratories.

- Intern placement is dependent on the availability of mentors.
- Mentors will reach out to selected candidates to schedule interviews.
- Candidate will either be offered a position with the mentor or will be returned to the pool for consideration by other mentors.

We have many mentors at many host laboratories and finding the right fit is an important part of this process!

Start dates are flexible!
